About Called to Edit

Called to Edit helps video editors build a career. Most training teaches effects and flashy edits. Called to Edit teaches the career itself: how to start, how to find clients, how to price your work and how to grow, alongside the editing skill.

THE LINE

I coach video editors to get paid.

WHO IT'S FOR

Video editors building a career. Some are starting with no plan. Others can already edit but don't yet get clients or get paid. Most are in Nigeria, and editors anywhere are welcome.

FOUNDER

Samuel Adebayo, video editor and coach. He is the face of the brand.

THE NAME

Always Called to Edit, with a lowercase "to" in sentences. Never "Call to Edit". "Called" means a calling: from God, and to the craft.

The brand ladder

Each step leads to the next. People meet Samuel first, then join something bigger.

Personal brand

Samuel's own content, under his name. Where people meet him first.

Webinars

Live sessions. The first step into Called to Edit.

Community

Where editors keep learning together.

Academy

The cohort: the full career programme.

Mentorship

One-to-one guidance.

Physical event

One day: a Called to Edit event in person.

The personal brand carries Samuel's own name and photo and stays separate. It points people to Called to Edit. Everything from Webinars onward carries the Called to Edit logo.

Brand principles

Four rules. When a case isn't covered in this guide, decide it with these.

1

Navy first

Every piece starts on navy. White and champagne sit on top. Use real photos of Samuel; never stock photos of people.

2

One gold, one word

Champagne marks the single thing that matters in a design: the main word, the number, the price or the button.

3

Gloock for the big word

The big word is set in Gloock. Everything people read is set in Plus Jakarta Sans.

4

Clear hierarchy

One big thing per design, then a clear second level, then the small print.

Voice and tone

Called to Edit sounds like a working editor who has done it and is showing you how.

WE SOUND LIKE

- A coach, not a guru. "Here's what worked for me."
- Simple English a 15-year-old can follow. One or two Pidgin phrases for warmth.
- Nigerian by default, open to editors everywhere.
- Bold and true hooks: a stake, a pain or a dream in the first line.
- Loose, like speech. Talking to editors directly.

WE NEVER

- ✕ Say "you must" or act perfect.
- ✕ Promise income or use the word "guaranteed".
- ✕ Show money as flaunting. Money is proof and possibility.
- ✕ Use "Nigerians only" wording.
- ✕ End with more than one call to action.

The logo

1 · The top line

"Called to" in Plus Jakarta Sans SemiBold. White on dark, bronze on light.

2 · The main word

"Edit" in Gloock. Champagne on dark, navy on light.

3 · The marker

The dot on the i is shaped like the head of a video playhead. It marks the moment you're on.

Always use the logo files. The two lines stay stacked, left-aligned and tight, exactly as drawn.

Marker or round dot

Both versions are correct. The marker is the main one. The round dot is the alternative wherever the marker can't be built, for example a title typed live in a video tool.

Never mix the two in one piece. Files for both are in the logo pack (names ending in -dot for the round dot).

Logo versions

Stacked · main logo

Use it almost everywhere: video, social posts, flyers, slides, certificates.

One line

For wide, short spaces: a website header, a lower third, an email footer.

Colourways

Pick the version by the background, never by taste.

Dark
On navy, midnight and dark footage.

Light
On white and light paper.

White
Over photos, with the soft title shadow.

Navy
One-colour print on light stock.

Champagne
Gold foil, embroidery, one-colour on dark.

Product logos

Each product puts its name under the logo, spread to the exact width of "Edit", in the colour of the top line.

MENTORSHIP

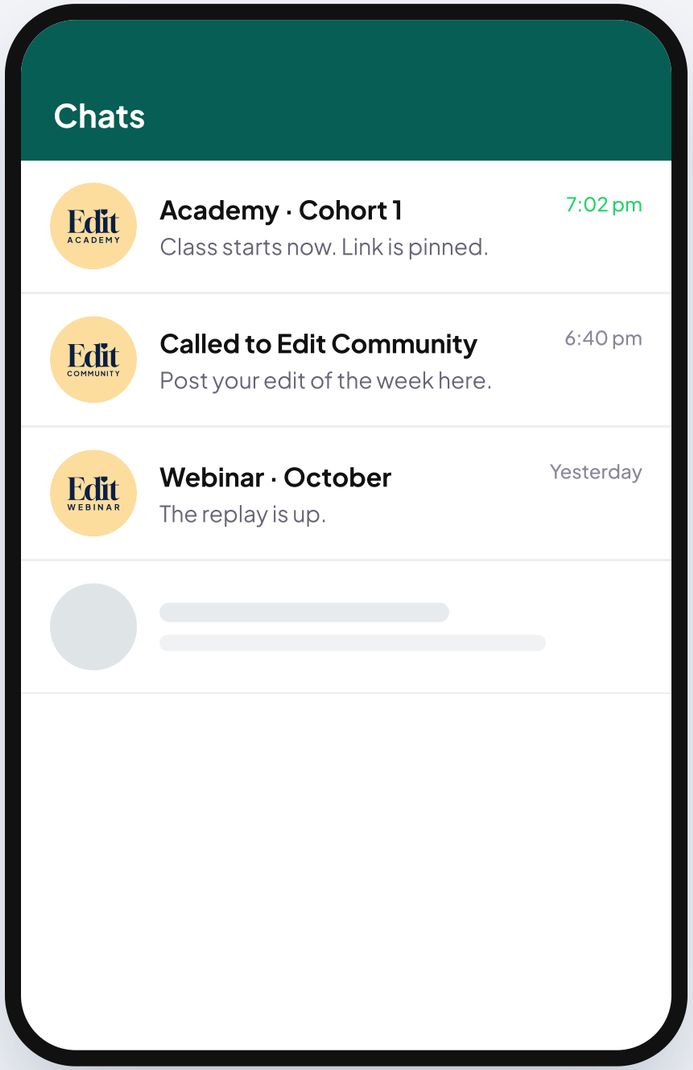

Product logos in use

In a box: slides, stickers, thumbnails, merch.

As a profile picture: groups and accounts for one product.

Example: group icons in a chat list.

Clear space and size

Keep empty space on every side equal to the height of the "Called to" letters. Nothing enters it, including the edge of the page or frame.

SMALLEST SIZES

Called to Edit

Stacked · 120 px / 30 mm

Called to Edit

One line · 160 px

Below these sizes, use the profile picture or the icon (next page). On a vertical video (1080 × 1920): 360–520 px wide as a title, 220–300 px as a corner logo.

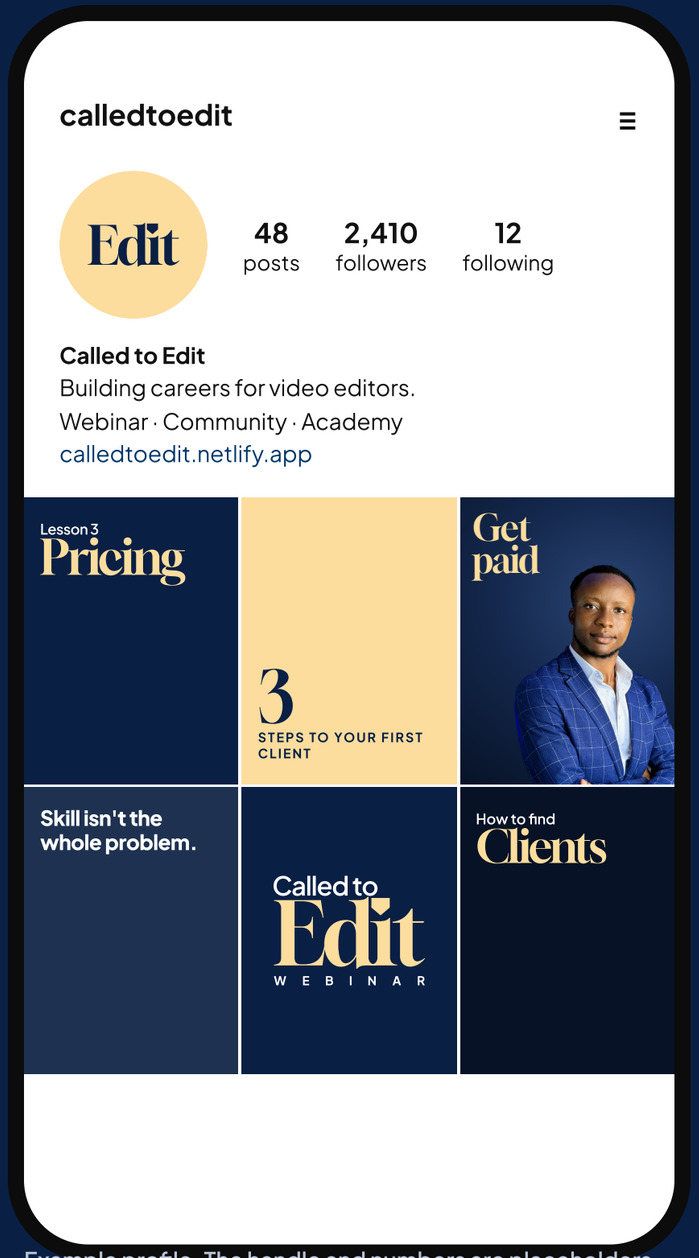

Profile picture and icon

Edit Edit Edit Edit

The profile picture is the word "Edit" with its marker, navy on a champagne disc. It stands out among dark profile pictures and reads down to 32 px. The navy disc is for dark pages where the bright one is too loud.

The icon is a Gloock E, for 24 px and under: browser tabs, app icons.

Example profile. The handle and numbers are placeholders.

Logo misuse

✕ Don't stretch or squash it.

✕ Don't change its colours.

✕ Don't rotate it.

✕ Don't add glows, outlines or bevels.

✕ Don't put champagne on white.

✕ Don't place it on busy areas without the shadow.

✕ Don't retype it in any font.

✕ Don't split or reorder the lines.

The brand's signature build: a short top line in Plus Jakarta Sans sitting tight on one big Gloock word, both left-aligned, exactly like the logo. Use it for titles, covers and headlines.

The marker

The playhead shape from the dot on the logo's i is the brand's one graphic device.

Champagne on dark, bronze on light. One marker per item, never scattered as decoration.

Video

Vertical video, 1080 × 1920.

Title: a top line in Plus Jakarta Sans SemiBold, the title word in Gloock champagne at 180–260 px, an optional one-line subtitle. Top third, left-aligned, 96 px from the edge, held 2–3 seconds.

Captions: Plus Jakarta Sans SemiBold, 46–54 px, white, centred. One key word in champagne.

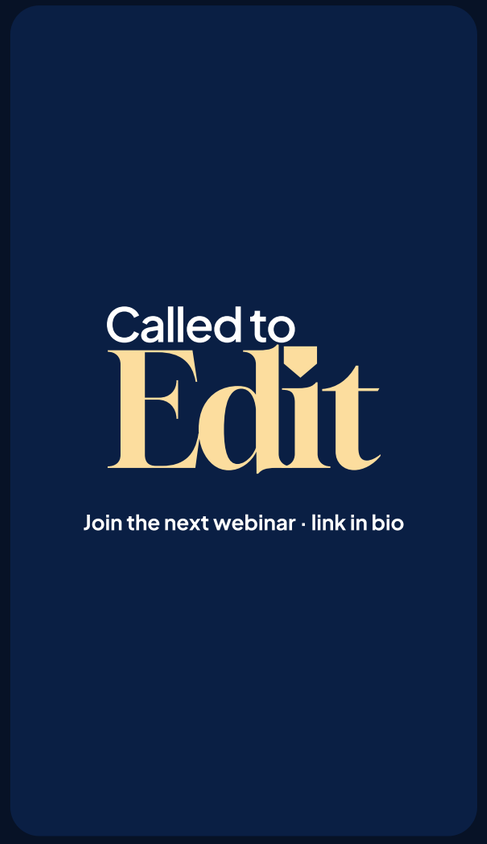

Effects: only one soft shadow over footage. No outlines or glows. Things move one at a time and never bounce.

Outro

Lower thirds

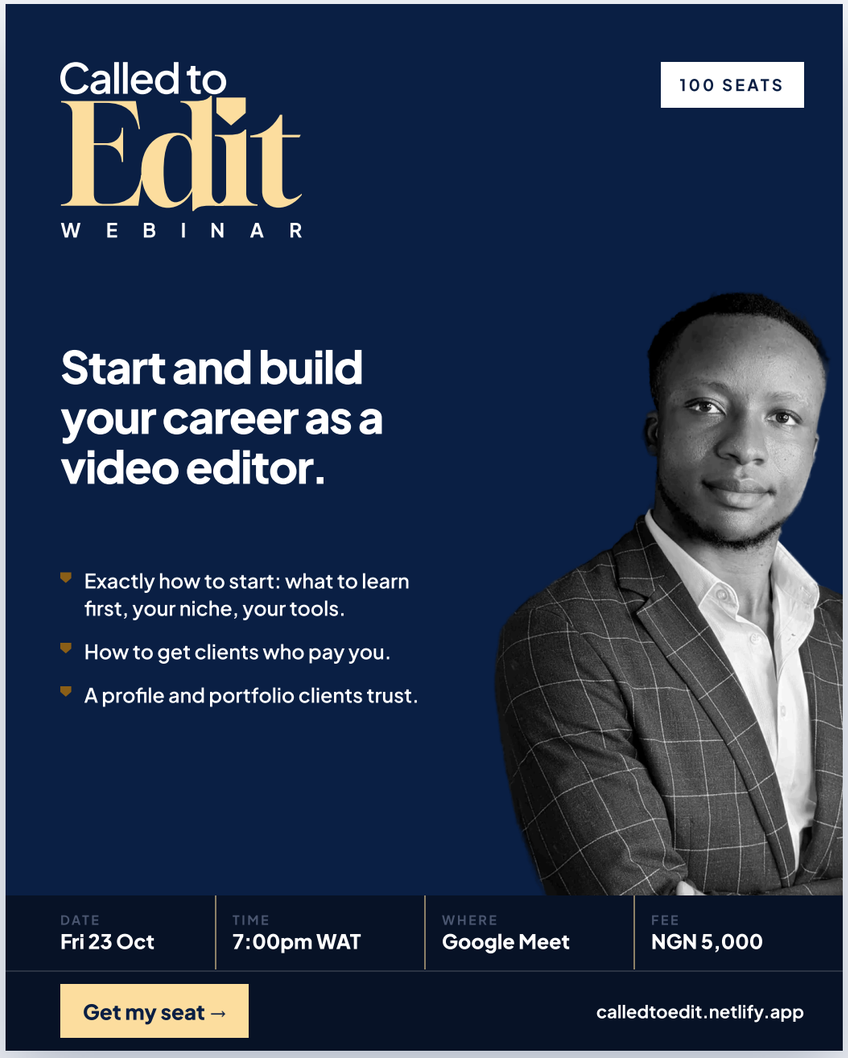

Landscape video, 1920 × 1080.

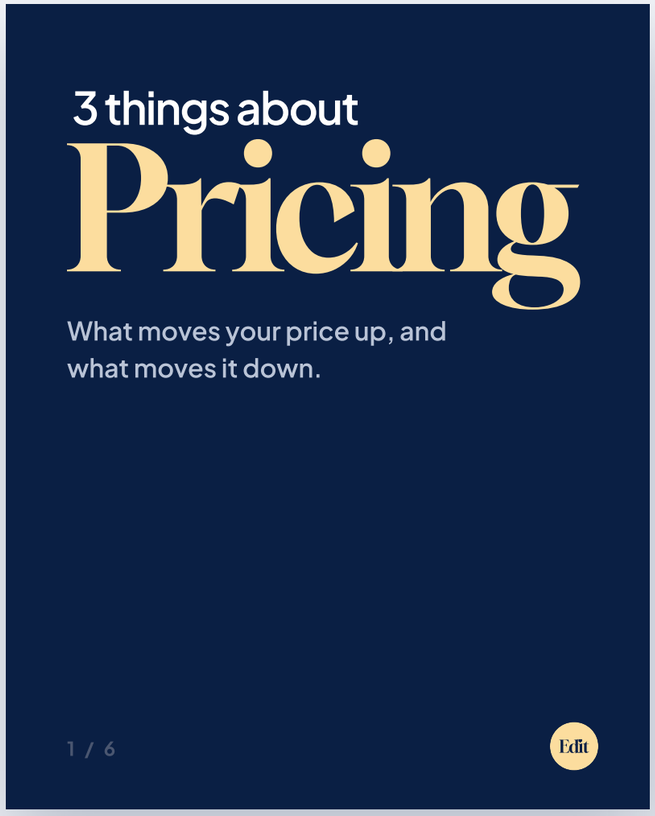

Lower third: the marker, the name in Plus Jakarta Sans Bold white, the role under it in Mist, on a square midnight band at 70 %. Bottom left, 96 px from the edge. No border, no rounded corners.

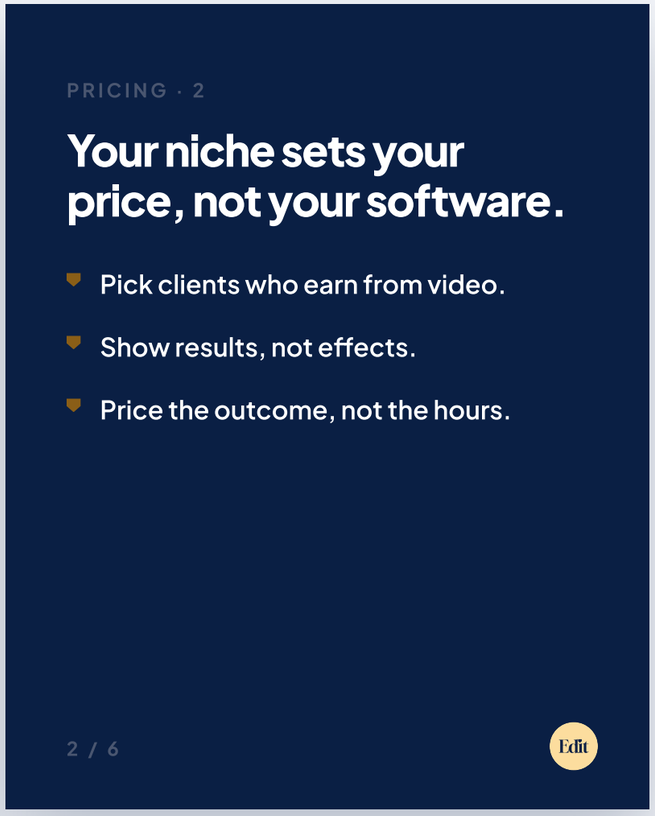

Corner logo: the white one-line logo, top right, 60 % opacity, only when needed.

Social posts

Flyer · 4:5

Carousel · 4:5. Cover: a top line and one Gloock word. Inside: a label, a headline, up to three points with the marker. One call to action on the last slide. Example copy.

Certificate

A4 landscape. White paper, navy text, bronze accents.

The seal at the top, the student's name in Gloock, the course in Plus Jakarta Sans, signed by the founder.

The seal is a second mark for certificates, merch and stickers. It never replaces the main logo.
